The Buttercup collection consists of a lounge chair and sofa which have generous seating space for a more laidback outdoor relaxation. The synthetic rattan weaving is also one of a kind and we believe can only be found produced in Batavia's production facility. The design and texture are a tribute to both Western and Eastern cultures. Instead of using the most common form of weaving, we use striped dense vertical lines of curled wide flat rattan. As a result, Buttercup gets a look that resembles natural material and at the same time waterproof and also durable under the sun.
